ANALYSIS ON THE STRESS IN MARK FRIEDMAN LIFE

Eni Kumorowati, Dyah Ambar Wuryandari, SS., Mh

Professional, 2008

Gunadarma University

http://www.gunadarma.ac.id

Key Words: Stress, Novel, Analysis

ABSTRACT:

Novel is one of literary works, the story in novel has a purpose to our life. Through the story, readers are indirectly capable of learning, understanding and knowing the variety of life problems. The Cottage is one of the best novels from Danielle Steel. Her novel is internationally well known, and become the best sellers in popular bookstores throughout the world. In this study the writer found the problem, what are the causes of stress in Mark Friedman Life and what kind of that stress characteristic does the character suffer from. And the aims of this study are to explain the causes of stress in Mark Friedman Life and to find out the kinds of that stress characteristic does the character suffer from. The method of this study is qualitative method, the source of data in this study is taken from Danielle Steels Novel. From many characteristic of stress, the writer find out of the causes of stress in Mark Friedman life. There are in psychosocial aspect, like frustration, overload, and derivational stress. And in personality aspects, like self-love and self-awareness.